

New message from Airbnb Support

From Airbnb <no-reply@supportmessaging.airbnb.com>

Date Thu 9/18/2025 6:38 PM

To [REDACTED]

You've got a new message

Airbnb Support

Hello Michael,

This is Sascha getting back to let you know that our claims team has been made aware of the damages you reported and a claims adjuster will be reaching out to you for more information shortly.

In terms of action on the Host account, based on your report, we will be taking additional action as per our policies.

As per our privacy policies, I am not able to disclose the specific actions taken.

I will now be closing this case and my correspondence with you here, but I want to sincerely thank you again for making this report, so we could investigate further.

I sincerely do hope that something like this never happens again and that the neighborhood can feel safe and quiet again. I have no doubt this has all felt like quite a lot to manage.

Please be sure to report any safety concerns or parties at this listing in the future so that we can review and investigate further. You can do so by reaching out at:

airbnb.com/help/contact_us

All the best,

-Sascha

Reply

Please note you can't respond by replying directly to this email.

Get the app.
The fastest, easiest way to Airbnb.

Airbnb, Inc., 888 Brannan St., San Francisco, CA 94103, USA

