What is your question/feedback?

We live nextdoor to an Airbnb, located at 8611 Whitefield Ave, and the owner's listing is advertising capacity for 10 guests, but my understanding of the regulations is that a house with 3 bedrooms is limited to 2 adults per bedroom +2 more, making 8.

He has decked the house (and his other houses) out with party amenities, and things often get out of hand. He allows much more than 10 people on the premises, infact, the other night we counted 25 cars. When they don't drive across our lawn and damage it, they park illegally at a church across the street, marked a tow away zone. The police have been called multiple times, and they are helpful, but the problem is it's a different set of guests every night.

What would the next steps be for getting this resolved? I have tried communicating with various government agencies through forms for my documentation, but I have not heard back from any!
